Thermore unveils Freedom thermal insulation for outer wear

July 14, 2017 - Italy

Thermore, a worldwide leader in the research, production, and marketing of thermal insulation for apparel with operation in Europe, USA and Asia and headquartered in Milan, Italy, has launched the Thermore Freedom, a new type of synthetic thermal insulation. It is recommended for consumers who expect their outerwear in sync with modern times.

The new product can move as much as needed, up to 40 per cent and offers four different levels of performance guarantee. Thermore Freedom offers excellent stretch capability and completely recovers to its original shape time after time. Also, it is available in a thin profile configuration to best fit the current trends in outerwear design.

Peta (People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals) has also recently certified all Thermore products as being Vegan approved. This goes hand in hand with Thermore's ongoing commitment to conserving resources, while providing products in the most ethical and humanistic manner to performance loving consumers. (GK)
